THE REPUBLICAN.
A Journal of Politics, Literature, and General Information.
THE CHIEF, ZEPHYRUS.
FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1857.

Very yr.—D. H. Wheeler's response to his colleagues' resolutions to the Republicans, while under his administration, that he would leave the party if his services were not required, was the subject of their joint meeting on Tuesday evening.

We could not conceive our report, however, without expressing the belief, that every one who visits our young and growing institution will arrive at last at no time when he has not conformed them at the present time.

That both Principals and Teachers are greatly advanced in their studies; for the course of studies now include a wide range, embracing a wider, broader and more comprehensive education than the former, and, in the highest order, than any we have ever had.

The motto by the younger men was the least disengaged expression,

while the made by the older members,

the Teachers, Clergymen and Clergy, were truly emblematic of the performers.

Especially were "Kraus" and "Herrig" humorously represented by the latter, to whom the Grecians as a whole, we have been excited by anything of the kind.

The whole school passed gloriously, and in every respect highly satisfactorily;

while the following efforts of those who conducted the arrangements were to be duly appreciated by themselves.

While the Grecians as a whole, we have been excited by anything of the kind.

We hope this may be the last,

but that next, or similar exhibitions may be repeated, then, while there is nothing more satisfactory of the mutual support, and good feeling which should be exhibited on an occasion of this character.

The State Page.

The annual State Fair will be held at Newark on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th of September.

The extensive committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry will see to the success of the same, and it has been thought by a number of the members of the faculty that as some of them were to attend the Fair, it would be well to change the time of the Fair to a week later, as by so doing that some time might be gained over that would be intervening at this time of our Sabbath.

The Dispensary Closed.

The report of Mr. Haderman's committee this week, makes it necessary that we should say a few words by way of explanation. He says the course of study intends to pursue in the construction of the dispensary is regular, and we have more than the demands in the course of the year. We will suggest that it be changed to a week after, as by so doing that some time might be gained over that would be intervening at this time of our Sabbath.

In regard to the last paragraph, in his letter to the Dispensary Committee, we will say that it does create a great dissatisfaction among our readers outside of this country, to have the space which should be devoted to other matters taken up in a discussion which does not interest them. We have received several other communications in relation to the controversy, all of which, for the above reasons, we will not publish.

In the discussion is to be continued in such a form that all our readers will have an opportunity of reading it, we hope no one will concern us for desiring that all controversy, in that connection, through the Dispensary, is now closed.

Middlefield.

Last week we visited Middlefield, a beautiful little town situated near the Western border of our country. We did not have much time to look around, but learned that all we were engaged in business at all, were doing well. There are four dry goods stores, and as good ones as any in the county. The merchants in this line are Rufus Wheeler, F. M. Nelson, J. E. Johnson, and Mr. Kelley. There is one drug store, R. G. Newell, proprietor, and all these stores are doing well. From what we could see at these stores, we concluded that they are well prepared to meet the wants of the surrounding country. One hotel is filled up, for accommodation, and another, large and comfortable, under course of construction. The hotel is owned by Mr. Teachout, and the wants of his guests are well provided for.

We can testify to the excellency of the table we ate here, because we tried it and found everything to taste the appetites.

Middlefield is situated sixteen miles from the Cleveland Avenue Falls, and is a part of the Falls Meeting. It is represented by some of the most prominent men in the state, and we will say, to the best of our knowledge, that there are no more intelligent, enterprising men from the eastern states, who will not regret any opportunity to visit this little town.

The people are very hospitable, and the wants of those who visit the Falls Meeting, are well provided for, and we will say, to the best of our knowledge, that they have a choice of the mildest, easiest, and most comfortable lodgings in the city. They have been well received, and are making rapid progress.
